THE NEWS.

The rumor which we published on Saturday morning proves to be true, and another splendid victory has crowned the army of the West. Ten regiments, probably about 6,000 rebes, have fullen into our hands at Arkansas Post, on the Arkansas River. The repulse at Vicksburg is fully stoned for. When all things are ready, that den of traitors must be taken. The entire West is united—it is determined that the Mississippi shall be opened. Meanwhile, the public will wait with intense inferest for the particulars of our glorious inferest for the particulars of our glorious lite seurrently reported on the streets and lite seurrently reported on the streets and lite is substituted as a full or substituted as a full or which for a vast array like this sakes time. respondence.

(Special Dispatch to the Chicago Tribune.)
Waunstoros, Jaa. R. 1881.
At an interview of Spanishing, Hooper and Hortos, the Sub-Committee of Ways and Means, with Mr. Chass, yesterday, the latter agreed to several portions of the Ways and Means bill now before the House, as follows:

Treasury Matters-Mr. Chase and the Ways and Means

Another of Benjamin's letters recites a curious history of a suspaced Franch plot to detach Texas from the Confederacy. It seems that the French Coasul at Galveston wrote to the Governor of Texas a ponfidential note, asking him if he did not think the secession of Texas and its union with the Confederacy was impolitic, and if the re-establishment of the old republic of Texas would not be a good thing. This note the Governor forwarded to Jeff Davis, and on the strength of it the French Consul was promptly expelled from rebei dominions.

About a month later, the French Consul at Richmond sought an interview with the Texas Senator, Oldham, and in the course of the conversation, asked him if he din't think it would be better for Texas to assume an independent nationality. This was promptly reported to Jeff. Davis, and, added to previous occurrences, seriously slarmed the rebeileder.

Benjamin writes to Sildell about it, and says he has no doubt that the Consuls were acting under orders from the French government. It tries to assign a motive that can Induce Napoleon to such a design, and instructs Sildell to investigate, and suggests a plash for arousing British jealousy on the subject, and thus playing off the English against the French for the benefit of the rebeil.

One dispatch from Monninger, rebeil Secretary of Treasury, to Mason, fully explains the plan for raising money, or other means, by oction in Earope. This consists in CAPTURE OF THE REBEL

One dispatch from Menmilager, rebel Secretary of Treasury, to Mason, fully explains the plan for raising money, or other means, by cotton in Europe. This consists in selling to these who are willing to make such investments in cotton certificates, for twenty bales each of New Orleans middling, to be delivered at any time within six measts after, the declaration of peace with the United States, as agreed at ports of rebel States upon the rebel government, receiving thirty days previous notice.

Memminger explains that if any purchasers of certificates want their cotton now, and want to take the risk of running the blockade with it, they can have it at any time. He is also particular to explain that the price per pound must be fixed in pence, not cents, so as to get the benefit of payments in British currency insisted of rebel books, and fixes the price at five pence per pound.

Another letter of Memminger's says he has two and a half millions in coin which he wants to well to British subjects for stays and munificons of war. He suggests that as soon a seach negotiations were closed this cotin would be born fide property of British subjects, and as Seward had been kind escape to allow foreign mem-of-war to enter their ports, there was no reason why the same British naval vessel should not come up to Richmond, get the coin and lake it over.

A letter flow Mallovy, the rebel Secretary of the Navy, to Mason, says that George X. Sanders has contracted for building, in British ports, six Iren clad steamers, cembriding the capacities of freighting and gathing along, and the secretary of the Navy, to Mason, says that George X.

Our forces advanced upor them, at 8 octook, over abstitls, rifler pits, or As they advanced is divisions, they also re-lieved each other. It was then found that As they advanced in divisions, they also relieved each other. It was then found that a thousand rebels had reinforced the fort from St. Charles. They were held in check by those and old forces. The gunbasts and river bat terica were in the meantime fighting an earnest duel, and for three and a half hours this duel continued. On each side, every nerve was strained for victory. The fort's casemates were made of three feet of solid timber, covered with railway fron, supposed to have been impeneirable; but the iron hall from our heavy guns on the gunboals was too much for them. The battered rails tumbled down; splinters from the timbers dew with fatal offect among the Confederates. The second shot entered a casemate, and killed seven whels;
by another, a caiseon exploded, killing six more and nine horses.

With this going on in front, there was as advance of two sections of Federal troops in the rear. There was but one course left by the defenders of Arkansas to pursue. They must succumb, and they did so.

The loss on our side, killed, wounded and missing, was about from 300 to 500.

unpleasant. With duties active and reponsible enough to satisfy any conscientious scriptes (feelings at least as common in the rank at elsewhere in the army.) The glorious weather of the last two weeks is rapidly revulving the men and horses of the 8th illinois cavalry, who have been on constant-picket duty since Christmas. The weather has been so pleasant, indeed, that on the second of January some of our boys tried a bath in the waters of the Rappahannock.

Allow me to say that the reports concerning the weather have have been rather exaggerated. But twice since the army has been lying on the Rappahannock have we had two rainy days in succession, and the weather in general has been remarkably fine. Our long wagon trains have made the condition of the roads, after every shower, indeed therefore the series of a great army depended on the peed of its pontion trains, the roads at last livre bown in a passable condition. St. Cloud, Minnasota—the most northern publication in the United States—hence her intimacy with all the current events transpiring in that State, eminen'ly fit her to give an accurate and detailed description of the "Indian Massacre" which was the subject of the Lecture on Saturday evening, while the keen perception and hold expression which have ever characterized her writings also form a prominent feature in her lecture. Having passed a number of years in a sparsely settled country, as a ploneer, she has studied the Indian character as only a ploneer can, and in her lecture, though a her relates incidents stranger than faction, ahe states only what she knows, and what herself and her neighbors have experienced.

It would accord; test the manhood and patri-tism of the people. No reverse should disothers of the people. No reverses should dis-bearten us. We should rise to the true dig-nity of American citizens. We should not talk of conciliation or of peace, but resolve to unstain the Government and prosecute the substitution for it—making a pamphiet of 108 pages. A week ago see published the boundaries of the proposed wards, and now copy's few more of its features:

By the provisions of the new charter the Mayor is to hold office foe two years, instead of for one, as a present, it to have a salary of thirty-five hundred dollars; and is to be a member as effects of the Board of Folice and Board of Public Works, and to be clothed with all the power and authority and be subject to all the general duties and responsibilities of a Commissioner of each of said Boards. It is prayided, however, that he shall not act as a Commissioner of the Board of Public Works is making any species assessment for

Rev. J. W. Osborn of Chicago.

Rev. J. W. Osborn of Chicago.

It will be seen that the Chicago clergy are in his list practically ignored, as the Rev. Mr. Osborne, we believe, has a parish somewhere in the southers part of the State.

We may remark here, that this whole affair presents a case almost without parallel. We have seen and read letters from prominent gentlemen in Worpester, Mass., Stockton, Cal., and Skencatles, N. T., in which places Mr. Hager has resided nearly all his life. They, without exception, speak of him in the highest terms of respect and affection, and gratefully allied to the character of his labors while he ministered to them. He came to Chicago with the very best testimonials, and now, as we are told and believe, for the first time in his life, has the ban of suspicton cast upon him. There is certainly something very extraordinary about all this, and we await farther developments before expressing any opinion on the merits of the charges. There is one remark, however, we can make without prejudging the case: the former character and standing of Mr. Hager do not warrant the belief that he could be guilty of oriminal conduct as charged in the presentment to the Blahop. any public work or imprevenent.

The new charter is also explicit on the power and duties of the Board of Public Works and the Board of Public, each of which is to consist of the Mayor, who shall be a member at office, and three Commissioners, the latter to hold office for three years each instead of six, as at present provided. In addition to other duties the Board of Police is also to perform the duties of a Board of Health. It is also provided that no person shall be appointed to or hold the office of Superintendent of Police without the advice and consent of the Common Council.

While the Mayor is thus made a member of the Board, he is not required to give bonds, the Board, ac is not required to give bonds, which strikes us as a very loose and improper way of doing business. Our members from Cook county should correct this omission by Cook county should correct this emission by all means.

It is also proposed that there shall be a Counsel to the corporation, who shall be the chief officer of the law department of the city. It will be his duty, with the assistance of the City Attorney and subject to the directions of the Comptroller, to conduct all the law business of the corporation, and all other law business in which the city shall be interested.

It provided in the charter that the Mayor shall appoint both the Corporation Connsel and City Attorney. Would it not be better to let the Alderman elect the latter?

xperienced, lectures stated that the people of Min-ace engaged in a deadity conflict for the ancy—that that beautiful land cannot abited longer by both the whites and ages. Either it must be given up to ages and become again an uncultivated civilized territory, (which God forbid!)

and uncivilized territory, (which God forbid!) or the savages must be removed from it entirely. The public certainty have no just conception, no correct idea of the enormity and extent of the outrages committed by the savages, clae they would not voluntarily come forward to sheld the savage murderers from deserved penishment, which is the only safety for the whites. Hence her mission to set the public mind right upon this subject by a plain statement of the facts.

Mrs. 8. related the statements and threats, that were made be the obligation of cealed the superior of subjects. feetly urjout. Some of the wards will thus be represented by one member, others by two or possibly three. In this manner some sections of the city will be benefited while others will suffer. It assems strange that the framers of the new Charter did not reflect upon this. The new Charter devid make an entirely new deal, and the Council should either be composed of thirty-two members, two from each ward, or of the sixteen elected members, so that no part of the city shall be benefited at the expense of another.

derstand that Henry W. Fuller, Esq., has been for a long time debating upon the expediency of creeting a cotton factory in this city. He has latid his plans before some of our more prominent business men and capitalists, and met within one co-operation as to justify him in commencing the enterprise. He has also been in communication with Eastern capitalists upon the subject, and from that direction comes the offer of "material sid."

The proposed building is to be of stone or corrections the offer of "material sid."

manner, $50 by 180 feet, and three or for stories high. The rect this hullding and sto it with machinery would require a capital $100,000, over one half of which sum is now freed. A large number of persons wou find employment in this factory, at once i creasing the population of the city by induing emigration from Eastern States. To general benefits that would accrue to the cit are obvious, and need not be particularize. This will prove the first step of a gigant system of manufactures yet to be complete in Chicago.

ANTRONES, THE ARTIST.—From a letter just received by Mr. Volk from the artist Antrobus, who some weeks since went down the Mississippl in the hope of rescuing his family from his former home in Northern Louisiana, we learn that he, to use his own language, has been floating up and down the river, strying almost vainly to communicate with my and language with my and language within forty miles of these three for weeks within forty miles of the street washe to unable to each have finally ancoreded in prevailing upon a prisoner just released to go to my house, for the remuneration of forty acres of land, which I am to make him a deed for when he returns.
